The fourth multiplier event of the YESSS project was arranged by FN-forbundet, Denmark. The event took place at Grundtvigs Højskole, where about 80 young people were gathered. The participants are at Højskole after finishing high school and/or in between semesters at their studies. They spent about 4 months there immersing themselves in areas such as democracy, equality, nature and the environment and creative processes.

We started the event plenum by singing a song. Afterwards we presented the YESSS project and the platform. After that we facilitated discussions about democracy and equality – and made a quiz. After that, we took half the group for a further discussion about entrepreneurship and engagement in society and politics. Afterwards, we played Global Goals at Stake which is one of the elements in the youth training in Dax and ideas for youth workers. The young participants were very engaged in the discussions, and it was a huge success.

As it was such a big success, we decided to make a second part – another event at the Folkemødet Bornholm (a big political festival for the civil society – which normally attracts about 60.000 people) where we together with the group of participants at Højskolen – will make an event with the Global Goals at Stake game – and in relation to this we will also promote the YESSS-project and platform.
